High School Equivalency (HSE)

For students who have not yet received a High School Diploma or a High School Equivalency Diploma (HSE), the CDEOC offers a comprehensive High School Equivalency Prep Program. Students will receive personalized instruction in the following:

- Language Arts
- Mathematics
- Science
- Social Studies

Students will learn how to boost their study skills, computer skills, and test-taking strategies to prepare for the GED exam, which can be taken at the CDEOC.

Welding

For students not planning to attend college and those who may have found themselves on a waiting list for a welding trades program elsewhere, the CDEOC has spaces available for new WELDING students. Students will learn the following types of welding:

- Shielded metal arc
- Stick
- Flux cored arc
- Gas metal arc (MIG)
- Gas tungsten arc
- Thermal cutting

The program includes OSHA certification in construction safety training and prepares students for AWS certifications.

CDL Class B

The CDEOC welcomes new students into its Class B Commercial Driver's License (CDL) Programs. With a Class B CDL, graduates can find job opportunities driving city buses, tour buses, school buses, box trucks, dump trucks, and more.

Through both classroom and behind-the-wheel training students will gain the necessary skills to safely operate a variety of commercial vehicles. Licenses can be earned in as little as 12 weeks.

Students must be 18 years of age, have a valid NYS driver's license for at least one year, and pass a Test of Adult Basic Education exam to qualify.
